Media Alert

for immediate release 4/3/13

The weather is turning and it's time for craft

Have you entered into the Exeter CWA's latest competition?

If you are amongst those who have been waiting for the holiday season to finish and the hot weather to abate before commencing your knitting, sewing, felting (or any type of craft) to enter your Bag , Beanie or Scarf the time has come to take things up a notch!

Grab a book, a pattern and your chosen medium and spend a few quiet hours crafting either quietly alone or with friends.

The Exeter Ex'cessories Competition is an opportunity to showcase the wonderful array of talent we have in our local Southern Highlands community.

You can enter as many articles as you wish in all three categories with great prizes to be won.

"There are some innovative pieces being made such as very stylish padded ipad bags in beautiful fabrics. We are always encouraged by our entrants versatility and imagination as well as their skill.

Whenever we hold a competition we see some amazing entries said Publicity Officer, Nova Miller.

Funds raised from the current competition entries and donated items at the Grand Sale Day Event on 20th April will support the valuable work of Bridges for Learning and Tangara School as they help local children with learning difficulties.

Entry forms can be downloaded from www.exetercwa.org , with some quantities available at the Brown Bookshop and Wool Addiction in Bowral.
